Adobe Photoshop Elements 11 is much different than Photoshop originally. Adobe Photoshop Elements 11 lacks many traditional features for photographers and graphic designers. My Photoshop Elements journey began after I uninstalled the paid version of Photoshop, Adobe's professional editing software. Many professional features are now built into Elements but some former Adobe Photoshop features are not available. For example, you can no longer open a channel in Photoshop and then drag-and-drop the files onto the canvas. You can still work with a single file in Photoshop Elements and save it back into the same folder, however. The image format support in Photoshop Elements is also limited. The program only supports JPEG, BMP and PNG files. You can open the TIFF files, but the file sizes are much larger than JPEGs. If you convert TIFF files to JPEGs they will lose quality, and make the file sizes considerably larger. However, information is limited regarding the prevalence and potential risk factors of VTE in hospitalized Chinese patients. We conducted a cross-sectional study among inpatients aged 18 years and older admitted to Tianjin Medical University General Hospital from January 2012 to June 2012 to investigate the prevalence of VTE and the risk factors in hospitalized patients in Tianjin, China. All patients enrolled in the study received a thorough evaluation of VTE risk factors. As a result, 2082 hospitalized patients were enrolled in this study. Among those, 41 (2.0%) had VTE. The demographic characteristics of patients with and without VTE were different. The hospitalization type was a risk factor for VTE. The adjusted odds ratio (OR) for VTE was 1.84 times higher for patients with length of hospitalization longer than 6 days than for those with length of hospitalization of less than 3 days (95% confidence interval [CI] 1.06-3.19, P = 0.03). Compared with patients with a body mass index (BMI) between 18.5 and 24.9 kg/m², patients with a BMI ≥ 40 kg/m² were 2.76 times more likely to have VTE. The BMI was also a risk factor for VTE (OR 1.46, 95% CI 1.19-1.81, P = 0.0002). Lastly, results of our study were consistent with those in other locations.
