Before we start, we need to clarify what Photoshop Elements 11 actually is. What is Photoshop Elements 11? Adobe Photoshop Elements 11 is a free program for people who need basic image editing functions. The exact same version is available on Windows and Mac but if you are a Windows user, you can use only Windows-compatible features. If you want to install it on a Mac, you need to use the Mac version of Photoshop. This is because Photoshop Elements is a Mac program and it runs only on Macs. Why should I upgrade to Photoshop Elements 11? Digital photography is one of the fastest growing industries in the world. And while this makes the world smaller for us, it also means that professional photographers have a bigger workload. Photoshop Elements 11 contains most of the features of professional Photoshop, but with fewer features and a simpler user interface. Most professional photographers, graphic designers, web designers, Discord emoji creators and meme-makers use Photoshop to edit images, create new high-quality images, or both. This is why Photoshop Elements 11 is a great alternative to Adobe Photoshop if your current Photoshop version is maxed-out. The best thing about Photoshop Elements is that it comes at a much lower price and you can use it on a lesser-used machine. If you don't need the power of professional Photoshop and only need basic image editing features, then Photoshop Elements is right for you. However, if you need all the features of Photoshop, and want access to the best features on all your devices, then go for the pro version. Note that Photoshop Elements 11 comes with a 1-year license, and you will need to purchase a new license if you want to keep the features. So if you have been using Photoshop Elements, it's high time you upgrade to Photoshop Elements 11, or at least the trial version, to continue to get the maximum Photoshop benefits. Allies Defeat Ukraine As World Awaits US President's Speech This year's gathering of the Allies, an inter-governmental agreement, is being held in Rome on Monday. This summit, which brings together representatives from the United States, Germany, France, Russia, and others, will discuss the course of the world under the threat of war. US President Donald Trump spoke on Saturday at a joint press conference with his Russian counterpart Vladimir Putin, who had just returned from a Europe trip where he met with the leaders of Poland and other countries. The US President defended his conduct of his foreign policy and said that his country was not the "pawn" of "some other country." Moscow's Special Representative for the North Atlantic Council, Andrey Kelin, said that neither the visit of the Russian President nor the summit itself are in anyway connected with the issue of Crimea. "The Crimea issue is being discussed outside the summit," he said. The visit of the Russian President on the margins of this summit will take place on Sunday. According to experts, the events of recent days are a great argument for the dissolution of the Anti-missile system Treaty of 1987. It would be a shame to see a war take place during the time when the world was trying to avoid such a disaster. The US President's aides said that Trump will deliver his speech on Tuesday to the leaders of the Allies at the end of a working group session. "This will be a speech based on the ideas that he discussed with the Allies," said Sean Spicer, the US White House Press Secretary. According to his spokesman, the president will talk about the need to reform the global governance system and strengthen the rights of the states, as well as about issues of global security, including the threat of nuclear war, terrorist threats, the humanitarian situation in Syria and the refugee crisis. According to American diplomats, the main goal of the US President will be to convince the Allies to put an end to the development of the anti-missile defence system in Poland and Romania. "The alliance has broken ranks and they are trying to develop the system," a US diplomat said. Hawkish European leaders are currently urging their US allies to take a more aggressive stance towards Russia in Syria, without giving up any ground, which would run contrary to the Russian peace plan that was brokered in February
